Newberry & Conte celebrate Labor Day at 1,000th home

WALL, September 1, 2008 – At 4:15 pm on Sunday, August 31, Republican candidates for Wall Township Committee George Newberry and Ann Marie Conte knocked on their 1000th door in their attempt to reach out to thousands of Wall neighbors before the November 4th election.

In August, the two political newcomers began walking door-to-door and bring their positive campaign message to as many Wall residents as would listen.

“We thought it was important to carry on with the work we began in the primary,” Newberry said, referring to the 1168 homes the two candidates visited during the primary.

Ann Marie Conte noted, “We met so many interesting people in the primary campaign who wanted to share their ideas about our town; we knew we had to continue canvassing the Township for their support and input.”

This August, they set out on different routes than during the primary, so the actual total number of homes called on since April is 2070. Though they likely will not be able to reach all of the 10,000-plus homes in Wall by election day, their intention is to reach as many as possible to learn what is on the minds of the Wall residents.

“By visiting each area and neighborhood of Wall Township, we not only learn the concerns of the township as a whole, but we also gain some very specific insight into local neighborhoods concerns,” said Mrs. Conte. She added, “We have met so many wonderful people – this is such a great town made up of great people, we are so proud to call Wall home.”

“This November, Wall voters will have clear choices to make concerning the future of our Nation, our County and our Township,” Newberry said, noting he hopes the voters will study their choices and cast educated votes. “Whether Republican, Democrat or undeclared, we hope all Wall voters take the time to study the issues and get out to vote!”
